

The ProAir Group is a medium-sized group of companies. In addition to ProAir-Charter-Transport GmbH, ProAir Aviation GmbH, founded in 2007, is part of the ProAir Group: ProAir Aviation is a German commercial aviation company with its own AOC and serves the market for business charter, air cab, ad-hoc charter as well as air ambulance flights.

To strengthen the ProAir Aviation team at the Airport Berlin/Location Berlin-Wildau we are looking for the next possible date:

CAMO Engineer (m/f/d)

The quality of the services provided is the focus for our customers and that is exactly why we are looking for only the best employees. If you are looking for a task in the fulfillment of which you would like to bring commitment, strategic thinking, high cost awareness and flexibility to the highest degree and always in the service of the customer, then we are looking for you!

Your tasks:

- working in accordance with the approved CAME operations manual
- planning and awarding work orders to maintenance companies
- control of maintenance documentation returns
- maintenance and archiving of aircraft history files
- collection, assessment, drafting and monitoring of manufacturers' instructions, modifications, airworthiness directives and authority directives
- coordination with the OPS/Sales departments and monitoring of compliance with planned downtimes at maintenance operations

Your profile:

- aeronautical training/studies, preferably experience in continuing airworthiness or many years of experience in aircraft maintenance
- detailed knowledge of the relevant EASA regulations (1321/2014)
- high ability to work under pressure, good teamwork and communication skills, passion and commitment
- sense of responsibility and an economical way of acting
- ideally knowledge of the maintenance planning system CAMP
- very good knowledge of the German and English languages, both written and spoken
- knowledge of Spanish and/or French would be an advantage
- knowledge in the use of common Windows applications (Word, Excel, Outlook)

We offer you:

- a permanent, secure job
- comprehensive training and familiarization with the company's procedures
- possibility of remote work
- very good working atmosphere
- 30 days vacation

In addition, our employees have every opportunity and perspective to develop in an economically sound and innovative company. We are happy to support our employees in achieving their goals together! The employee clearly in focus, as our most valuable asset!

Have we aroused your interest?

Then send us your application documents with salary requirements by e-mail to: karriere@proair.de

We are looking forward to meeting you!